All Around the Town

One of the most captivating entertainment groups to ever appear in the South Bay Harbor area, the Charles Amato Quartet, this week opened in the Galley West restaurant at Marineland, un-wrapping its musical talents in the nautical "Lookout Room."

Featuring songstress Cathie Taylor, whose vocal artistry is also heard on the Reprise Records label, the new music-makers at the Galley West will be playing nightly except Mondays through Nov. 21.

Three shows will be presented each evening, according to William Starz, general manager of Galley West, which is an Interstate West operation. Reservations on weekends are advisable.

The Charles Amato Quartet has proved to be an outstanding group, having been extolled by blaze reviewers in Las Vegas, Reno, Los Angeles and Honolulu. Their instrumentation includes Amato (once featured with Freddy Martin's Orchestra) on piano and accordion; Fred Haller (formerly with Les Brown's Orchestra) on alto sax and clarinet; Buz Overbeck on drums; and Dick Strickland (formerly with Pete Fountain) vocalist and on bass.

A rewarding and gratifying experience can be found at the Smith Bros. Indian Village Restaurant in Torrance, especially for value-minded dinner hosts who discover the "Thunderbird Early Dinners." These superb offerings have proven extraordinarily popular with families wishing to entertain their children and relatives on a modest budget.

Augmenting the regular Indian Village menu, ten delectable entrees on the special "Thunderbird Early Dinners" menu are served daily from 4 until 6:30 p.m. and on Sundays from 11:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. The early-hour dinners are complete, including appetizers from the Pocahontas Cart, and are priced at $2.75 for adults and $1.50 for children.

The diversity of the "Thunderbird" selection is on par with the Smith Bros. reputation for quality food, masterful preparation, meticulous service and gracious hospitality.

The generously served entrees include, for instance, broiled halibut, Guaymas shrimp, eastern scallops and fish kebab. Meat specialties are not neglected, with golden baked disjointed chicken, broiled chopped sirloin and barbecued beef ribs also adorning the menu.

What's New? Paul New and The Crew, that's what's new! And that's the title of the Jubilee Record Album featuring the Barbary Coast's new group.

Rarely does a group of artists come along who combine the talent and versatility of Paul New and the Crew. Here are five young and personable triple-threat artists who are loaded with talent as musicians, singers, comedians, entertainers. The combo's members have mastered a total of 40 instruments, add their talented voices in solo and group stylings, and rock the fans with their comedy routines. They are appearing regularly at the Mariner's Barbary Coast Room.

Like the chance to sample some of the Southwest's finest salads and appetizers before selecting a luncheon entree? One of the finest places we know to do this sampling in pleasant surroundings is at Filippone, on Calle Mayor at Anza Avenue. Sam Filippone and his charming wife, Karen, your genial hosts at the new restaurant, promise the best in your selections—from the cocktail lounge to the private banquet room.

The unique "Opera Cararet" entertainment, the intimate and comfortable feeling around the dining room decorated with authentic Italian accessories, and the delicious smell of Italian cookery brings Southland diners to Carmelo Mantos La Strada restaurant time and time again.

It's always a dining adventure apart from the city, although it is located only two blocks off the Golden State Freeway. Open every night for the finest in dining and entertainment, La Strada is easily located at 3000 Los Feliz Blvd.

'Someone Waiting' to Open Friday at Chapel Theatre

Last minute preparations for Friday's opening of "Someone Waiting" currently are under way at Chapel Theatre. The new production begins a five-week run Friday at 8:30 p.m.

The Emyln Williams mystery is not recommended for family viewing, Producer Betty Schroeder said.

Tony Baynes, Chapel's award-winning director of a season ago, has included many area favorites in his talented cast. Alan Sinclair of Los Angeles will portray the father of an unjustly executed youth seeking revenge for the boy's death.

Joseph Reale of San Fernando Valley will play the role of the dead boy's best friend, Martin. Austin Rheingold of San Pedro and Gladys Manu of Wilmington have featured roles as Martin's parents.

Providing the comic moments are supporting stars as Pamelaas Pamela Deckett of Palos Verdes and Esther Drake of San Pedro, who will portray two roles. Carol Hanson, appearing in her first American play, completes the cast.

The play will run through Dec. 4 with performances on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. No performances have been scheduled during Thanksgiving weekend.

Reservations may be made at the box office, 372-9636. Chapel Theatre is located at 4164 W. Pacific Coast Hwy., directly behind the Smith Brothers Indian Village.

Death Rate Low For Active Man

If you're a male leading a physically active life, you have a two to three times better chance of surviving a heart attack than your less active counterparts. You also have a much better chance of escaping the attack in the first place.

These were among the conclusions indicated in a report from a statistical study by the Health Insurance Plan of Greater New York (H.I.P.), the largest ever undertaken to relate physical activity to mortality in the four weeks following a first heart attack.

The findings were reported at the Scientific Sessions of the American Heart Association in Miami Beach, last month by Dr. Charles W. Frank of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine, who directed the research project.

Men known to have had high blood pressure before a heart attack have twice the chance of dying within the first four weeks after the attack than men with normal blood pressure.

Cigarette smoking and diabetes, factors that raise the risk of having a heart attack, apparently do not influence early mortality after the attack strikes.

Unlike previous studies which have been based largely upon occupation class, the project graded activity during leisure as well as working hours. "With reduction in work hours and increase in leisure and vacation time," Dr. Frank said, "off-job activities are becoming an increasingly important fraction of the total life pattern."

Covered in the study were 55,000 men, subscribers to the health service of two or more years standing, between the ages of 25 and 64. A total of 301 were identified as having suffered a first heart attack during the initial 18

THE MOST MARKED survival advantage identifiable in the study was the usual level of physical activity engaged in before the attack.

Mortality among men classified as "most active" was 17 per cent during the first four weeks vs. 49 per cent among those considered "least active." Classification into activity groups was based upon combinations of jobconnected and off-job activity levels.

Physical activity as a factor in heart attack mortality and incidence is of growing concern, Dr. Frank asserted, because of the "relatively sedentary life pattern" developing as a consequence of technological changes both at home and on the job.
